9	Brian	Carlisle	Bowl
10	Adam	Estes	Star Burst	Oak Frame with a red cedar background; inner set is black walnut; 2nd row is oak; and last row is Elm.

11	Adam	Estes	End Table	Poplar wood stand with laminated birch curved supports with ambrosia maple top and a hint of Epoxy.
12	Adam	Estes	Flowers/vase	Poplar vase with natural lines in it, cedar chips in vase and the flowers are cedar, walnut and maple
13	David	McGough	Walnut Bowl	10" x 3" walnut bowl with small amount of blue resin. Three distinctive grain colors.
14	Matteo	Lybarger	Dry River Table	This coffee table was constructed from a single piece of Ohio Buckeye wood and a single small piece of walnut. It sits around 24" wide and 4' long. The top is very stable and held together with walnut tenons that have all been hand fitted. This table is a unique take on two famous styles. One being epoxy river tables and the other being the work of George Nakashima. It is sanded to 400 grit and finished with a hard wax oil. This gives it

				an incredibly smooth feel and the ability to still feel the grain in the wood. This will stand out in any space and have guests talking about its natural beauty. While I consider it a piece of art, it still is very functional as a coffee table with the opening at most just exceeding 3" and tapering don't to 1/2". This would be a wonderful statement piece in any home.
15	Carrie	Haver	Flame Bench/Coffee Table	This piece could serve as a bench or long coffee table and would make a beautiful addition to any space. With both classic (wood) and modern (metal) elements, it is made from a large slab of flame maple, showcasing the beautiful red flame hidden in the wood. It is finished with several coats of epoxy to preserve and highlight the beauty of the wood.

16	Terry	Frazier	Plate	I heat my house with wood, so I look through all of the prices before i burn any to see if they deserve a second chance. This plate is walnut, I just liked the character of the grain, and the crack that is in it.
17	Terry	Frazier	Bowl, Large Light Tan	Small cherry bowl
18	Terry	Frazier	Bowl, Small Brown	Spalted maple bowl
19	Terry	Frazier	Ring Bowl	Cherry ring holder
20	Terry	Frazier	Bottle Opener	Bottle opener, made from an 80-year old hedge fence post.
21	Jesse	Ryals	Bench	Burned top and leg supports, supports are poplar. Covered in poly acrylic.
22	Jesse	Ryals	Western Landscape	Western Landscape inspired sculptural art using covered in furniture varnish.

23	Jesse	Ryals	Bowl	Burned with butcherblock protector over it. hand carved
24	Gregg	Gebhardt	Coffee Table	This is a beautiful 54-inch coffee table with a sizable epoxy pour that adds a very unique touch.
